Hey!

Did you ever think that members of the IJC faculty were once students, too?

Well, they were.

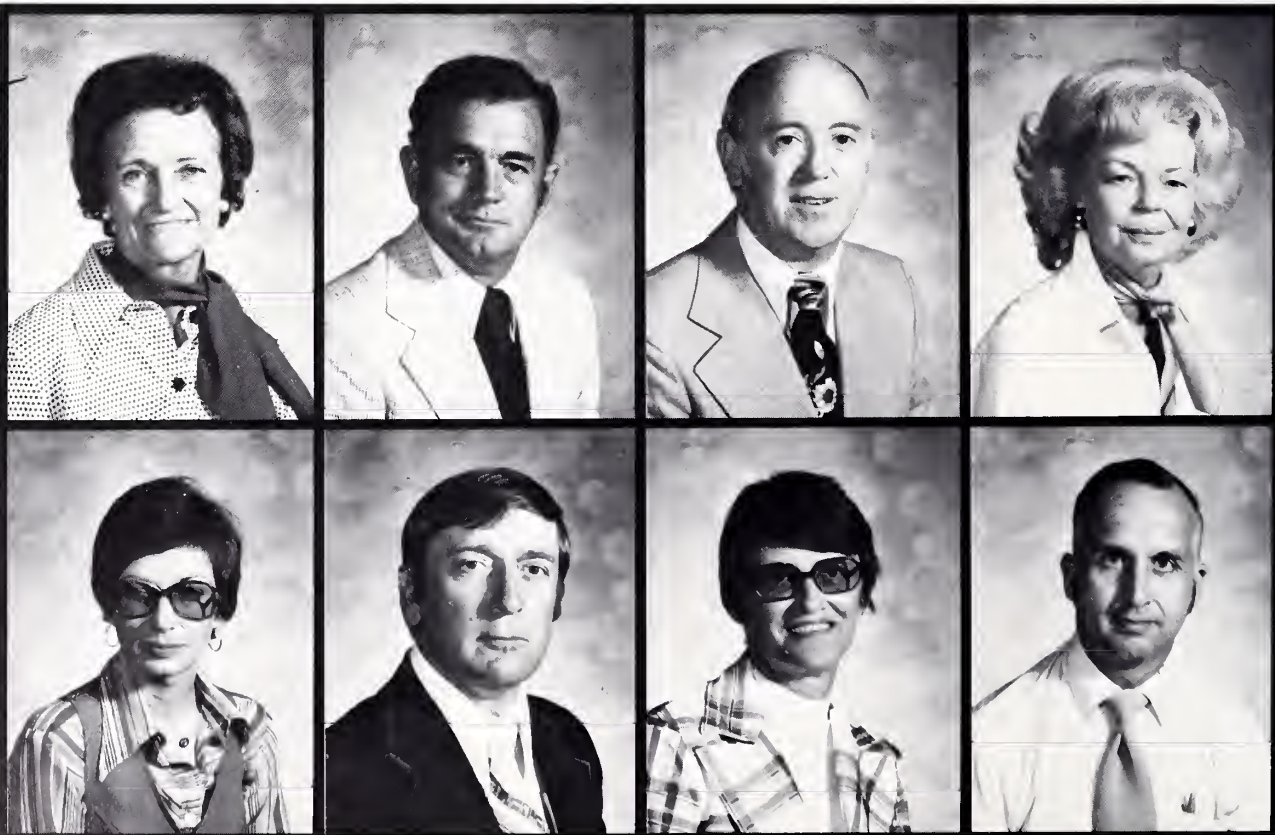

They took exams, and flunked tests, and complained about homework like everyone of us. But they got through it — somehow — like we will.

The average member of the IJC faculty is only 37 years old, but has been teaching for about 14 years. On the average, they have also worked beyond the requirements for a masters degree.

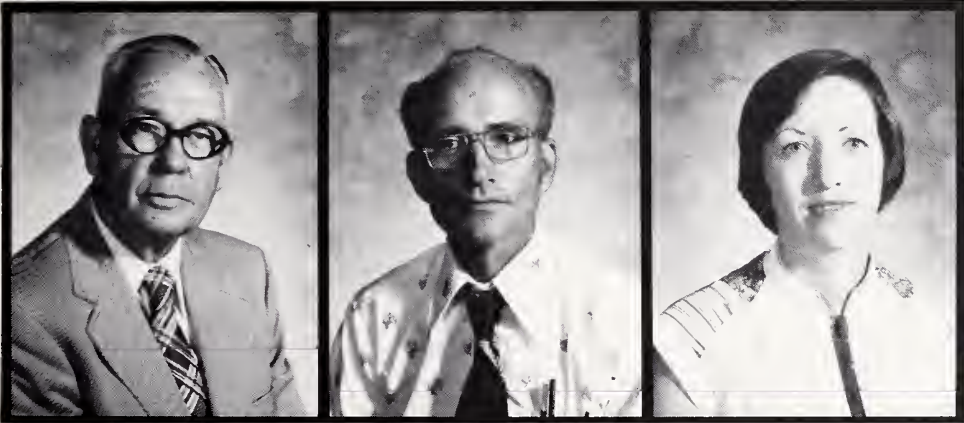

Faculty members have put in a lot of hours learning skills that gave them a 4.24 overall excellence rating on a scale of 1 to 5. It was the IJC students who gave them this rating in the spring of 1977.

Students Not Computerized At Itawamba

Since the average junior college student is 22 years old, most IJC faculty members can look at the people in their classes as adults.

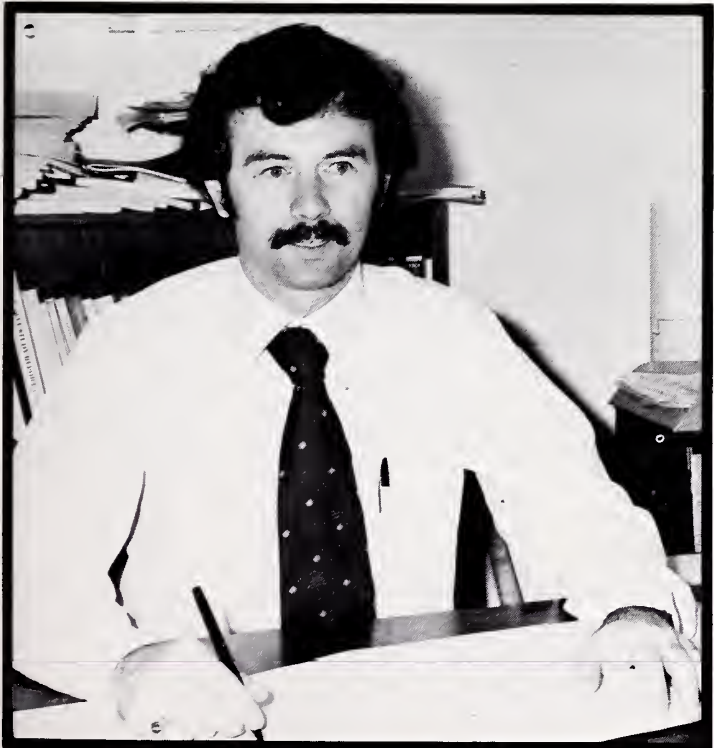

Instructors at Itawamba can also afford more time for students because the size of the school is smaller than that of most senior colleges and the atmosphere is more intimate. The young people at IJC do not have to be computerized, but can be friends and helpers to the people who make up the college's faculty and staff.

What We're About

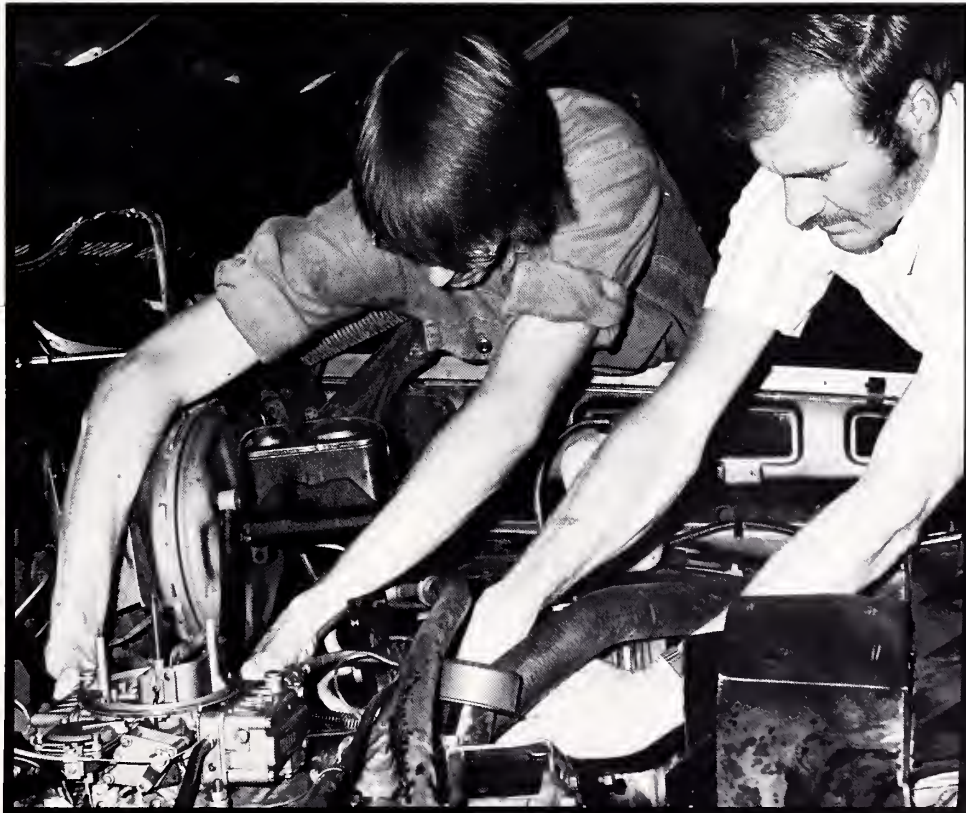

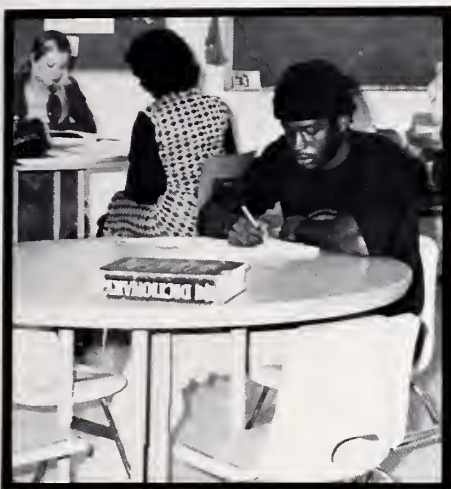

Everyone has a goal — if they don't, their goal is usually finding one — and so it is with the faculty and administration of IJC. They wrote some of their goals down for us — the things they want to do, the things they want to accomplish.

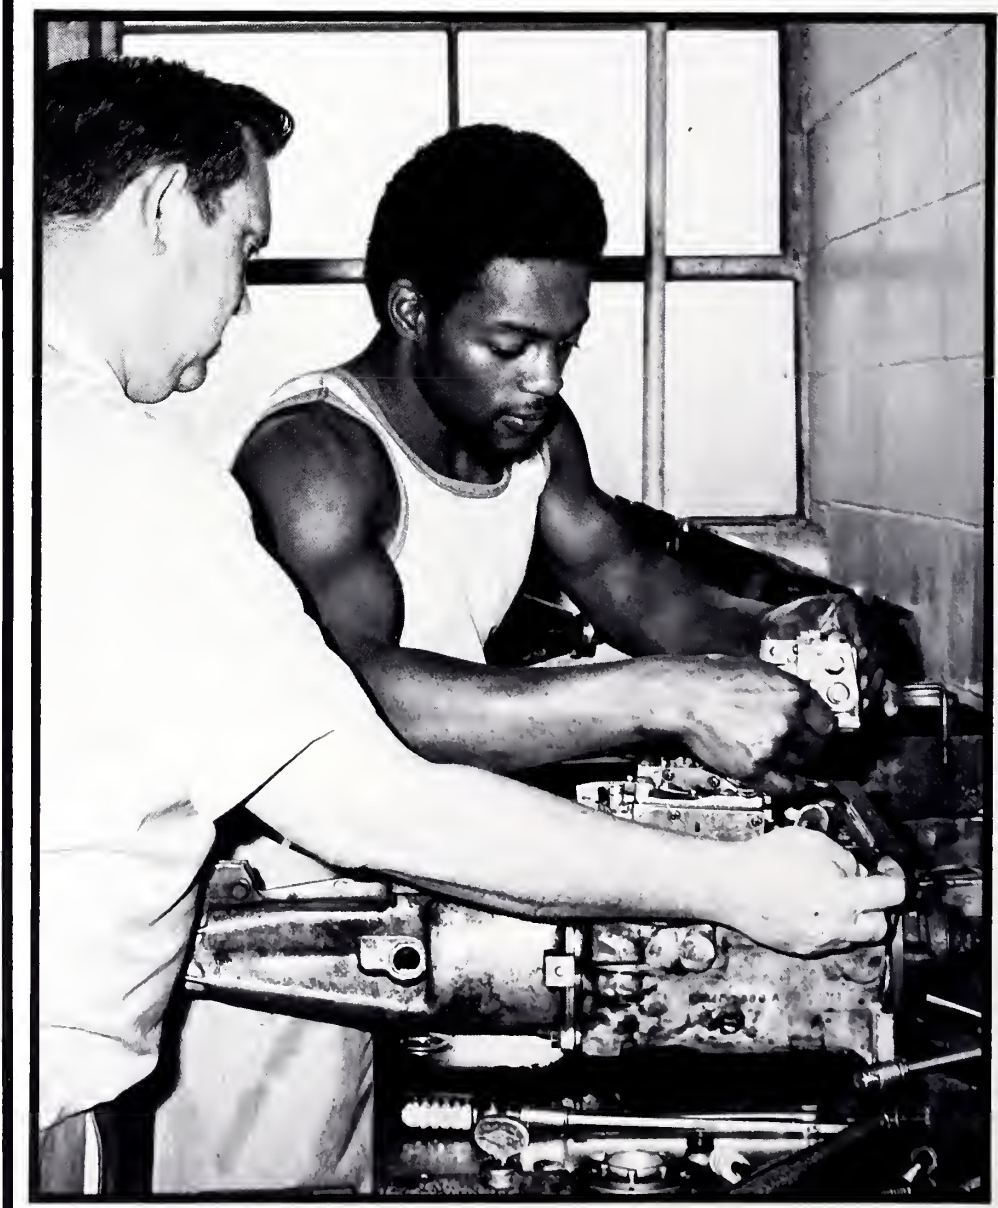

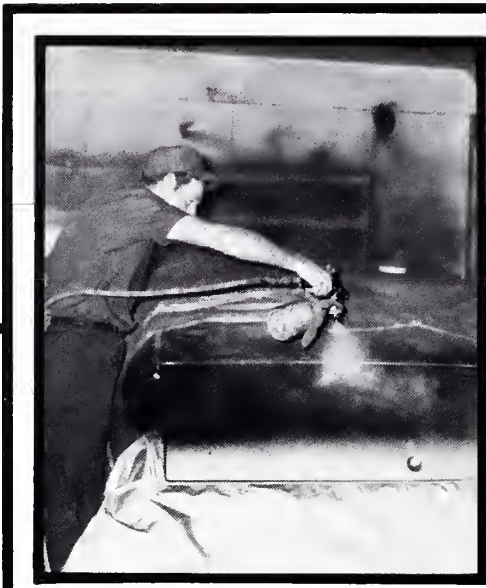

First, they want to help students find out what they want from life, how to get it, and then give them the confidence to reach for it.

Second, the IJC staff tries to teach the things that will make the American economic system work for the student. They give them an education in the skills where money is being made at the present time, and where it will probably be made in the future.

Third, IJC wants to instill in students the belief that learning doesn't end when a person stops attending classes. IJC believes that a "person is a part of everyone he has met" and is touched by everything he sees. Every moment can be a bright, exciting learning process if a person is trained to see it as such.

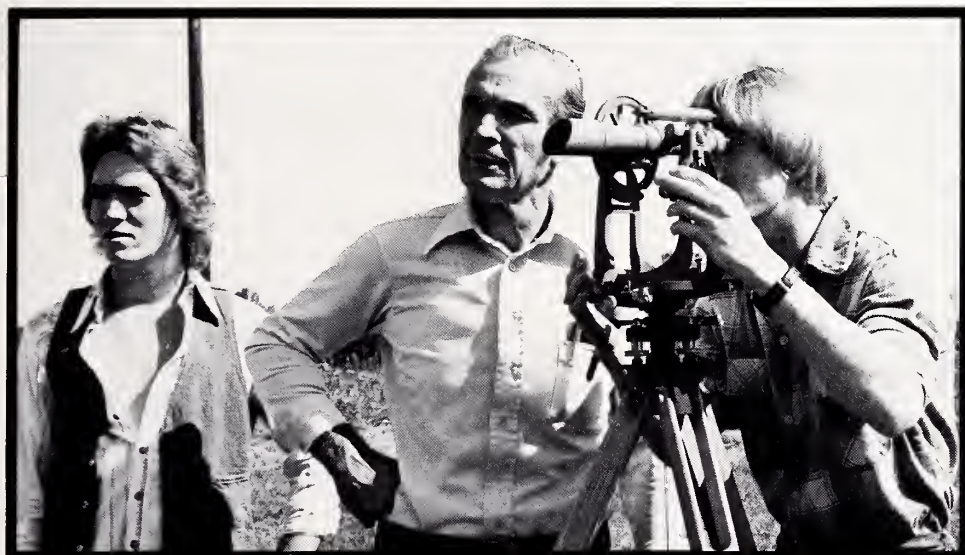

Every day can be a glowing frontier says the staff at Itawamba, and every moment the fulfillment of a dream.

The Coming Classes

IJC had 233 more students going to classes in the fall of '77 than it did the past spring. When next autumn comes there may be even more students filling the classrooms and the bleachers in the football stadium, and relaxing in the student center.

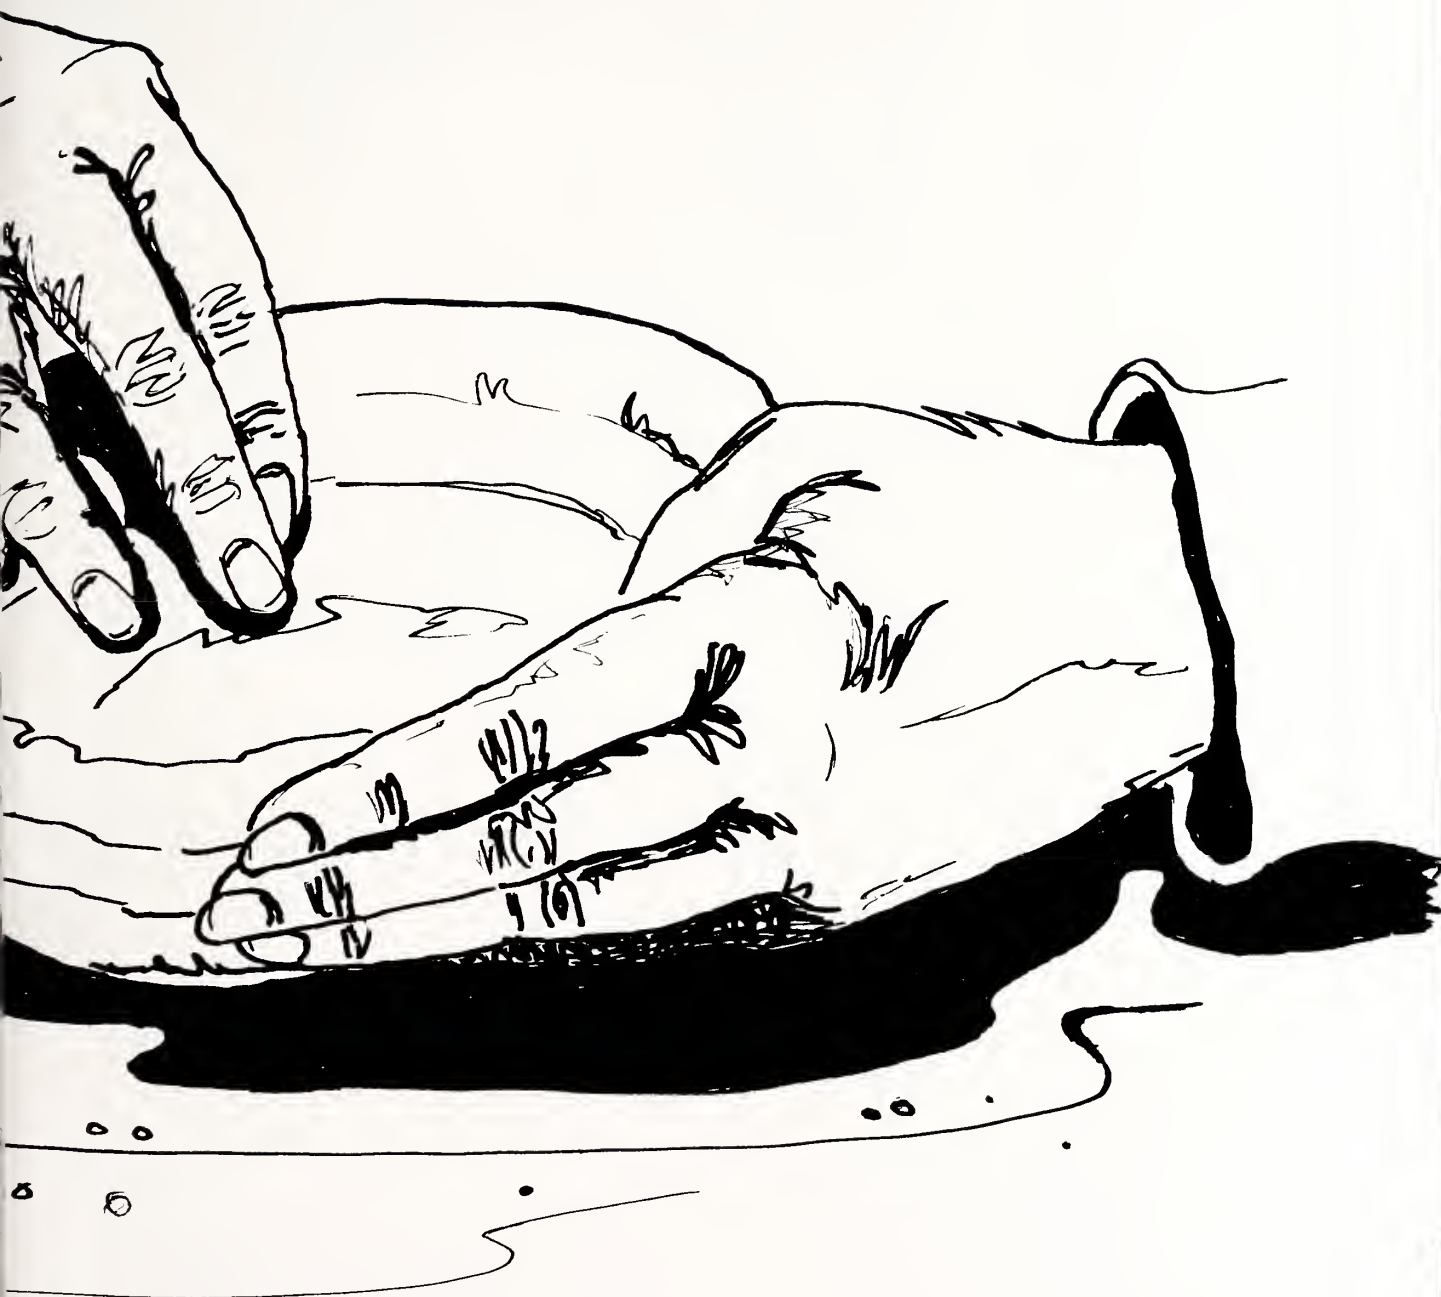

The Itawamba Junior College faculty and staff are prepared to prepare even more young minds for the rugged world that will lie ahead of them.

The teachers at IJC smile — and accept the challenge.

SPORTS

We Remember More Than Statistics

The last time I looked there were still leaves on the trees beyond the football field and you were still putting up victory posters and shaking poms-poms . . . you were going into basketball games on my arm — but the gym is all closed now, and no one fills the stands . . . and the last time I thought about you was on a windy baseball field, just before the rains set in.

The last time I looked, you were still wearing tennis shoes and making your passes at the games and at me . . . the last ball game I saw, I saw with you — the team went away a winner and so did we, at least for a time . . . and there were the days I went wandering, walking by the frozen playing fields, and wondering about you, and if summer would ever come again.

Now there are no more leaves left on distant trees, and no time left for wondering . . . about IJC . . . or the next game . . . or us . . . or lit tests . . . or tomorrow . . . there is only going on . . .

Sprinting to Victory or Defeat

... Track — speed . . . the sprinters loosening up, then springing from the blocks on chilly March days . . . a few seconds . . . it's over! . . .

... TRACK — the hurdlers . . . sprinting, then over the hurdles . . . a few quick yards, then up and over the barrier again . . . the hurdles . . .

Intramural Champs Go to Tourney

Intramural winners are football,
Pontotoc Kings; eight-ball pool,
Johnny Witt; ping pong, David Taylor;
foosball, Tim Estes and Joey Cox, cards; and Marty Lucius checkers.

Winners went to the state tournament at Northwest.

Everybody Wins in Intramurals

In sports as in life, there are usually winners and losers, but in intramurals, to play is to be winners

. . . basketball for girls and guys everybody plays, everybody . . . in volleyball the point is the aim, your reach is the only limit, and fun is the object . . . foosball and ping-pong and perfect pairs making partners, and friends, and fun, not just for paid-for-high school products, but for bookworms and band boys, society girls and secretaries . . .

Basketball . . . it's played by boys, and kids, and girls and like any other sport, it serves no purpose — except to gratify the need that is within us all to strive, to work, to compete and not to fade with loss or smirk with victory, but to go on with grace . . .

Play for Love

Girls probably play a purer form of the sport than do their male counterparts . . . there are no dreams of NBA Championship rings, and the only pot of gold beneath their backboard is the occasional athletic scholarship and the love of the game . . .

What Will There Be?

And in the end, when the lights have been turned out in the gym after the last game of your sophomore year, what will you have?

What will there be, Gail? There won't be any Boston Celtic bonuses or Pacer pay checks.

And what for you Frances? A few more years of scholarship? Maybe.

For all of the girls of the 1977-78
IJC girls basketball team, what will there be?

Special Thoughts

Sounds funny, but there'll be a lot. There'll be nights in southern subdivision houses . . . or afternoons on the patio at Carmel . . . or a mornings view from the window of a 52nd Street, New York apartment when the days at Fulton will come back so clearly, and so will your best friend's smile . . . within your mind there'll be a scrapbook of photographs, pictures of little Mississippi towns you passed through in the afternoon and night, and the clock running down on your last game . . . it'll all be there, it will all be yours, and you will be a part of all of us . . .

Basketball . . . boys basketball . . . here you are, playing junior college basketball for IJC . . . winning and losing . . . while the radio broadcasts your games as you go all over the state to run the hardwood . . . but where did it start? and where have you climbed to? and have you reached the summit?

It Started With a Dream

. . . Your first court probably wasn't hardwood, but red Mississippi clay or a concrete driveway . . . it started with the dream, to be the winner . . . to be the starter . . . to earn that lettered jacket . . . to make your parents proud . . . to perfect that shot . . . to get that scholarship . . . to play on . . .

Dreams Go on

Then, suddenly, high school was over, but basketball was not . . . you were playing junior college ball . . .

There was Coach Newsom and cold winter days . . . there was running and rap sessions in the athletic dorm . . . there were the road trips, and the home crowds, and the tip-offs that went the wrong way . . . you found friends and victories, while you learned from defeat, and you let the dream go on . . . go on to senior college . . . go on to pro-basketball . . . go on to legend . . . even if dreams and memories are all that years of play bring you, they are special things . . . memories grow more colorful and more perfected to your point of view . . . and dreams, well dreams, they go on from your teenage morning until night . . .

Smile

Smile . . . when the days are long and hot, and the nights are long and filled with football or basketball, and winning and losing . . . smile when the pep rallies go on and on, and the dances are long . . . smile at the post game parties, then let your hair down and sigh after a night of cheering, and laughter, and tears, and going on to the next game, the next week . . . going on with a smile.

IJC's cheerleaders are a group the entire school can look at with pride and admiration, for both their beauty and for their talent. The '77-'78 group was chosen as "Best All-Girl Squad" at a cheerleading clinic held at Memphis State University. These girls also won numerous achievement and superior ribbons while at the clinic and competition, along with winning the spirit stick . . . hey, it's easy to see why.

Championship Game: Beat Bobcats Please!

'It's all on the line, nothing else needs to be said.'

- Jones is ranked 2nd in the nation.
- 1st Q . . . 13:35 left: Holt shocks the Bobcats with a 34-yard touchdown pass to Kent Davis . . . the point after is no good.
- Quickly, Wallace scores for Jones County. The score is tied 6-6.
- 2nd Q: Bobby Straughter scampers 71 yards for the 2nd

- Indian TD . . . Hill's kick is good . . . Itawamba leads 13-6.
- 8:08 left in game: Jones scores . . . decide to go for two points. Defensive back, Bobby Clay, blocks attempted pass — saves game.
- :48 left in game: Clay intercepts pass to save championship — for the 2nd time.

Wrap-Up Wolves

"Let's start out on the right track."

— Coach Eaton shows confidence in his offense . . . allows them to go for first down on 4th and 1 . . . Don Hawkins gets it.

— Freshman Mickey Hill kicks field goal in 1st quarter.

— Quarterback Chris Holt scores from the one, late in the 3rd quarter.

*Final: IJC 10 — Co-Lin 0
Record 1-0-0

Lasso Lions

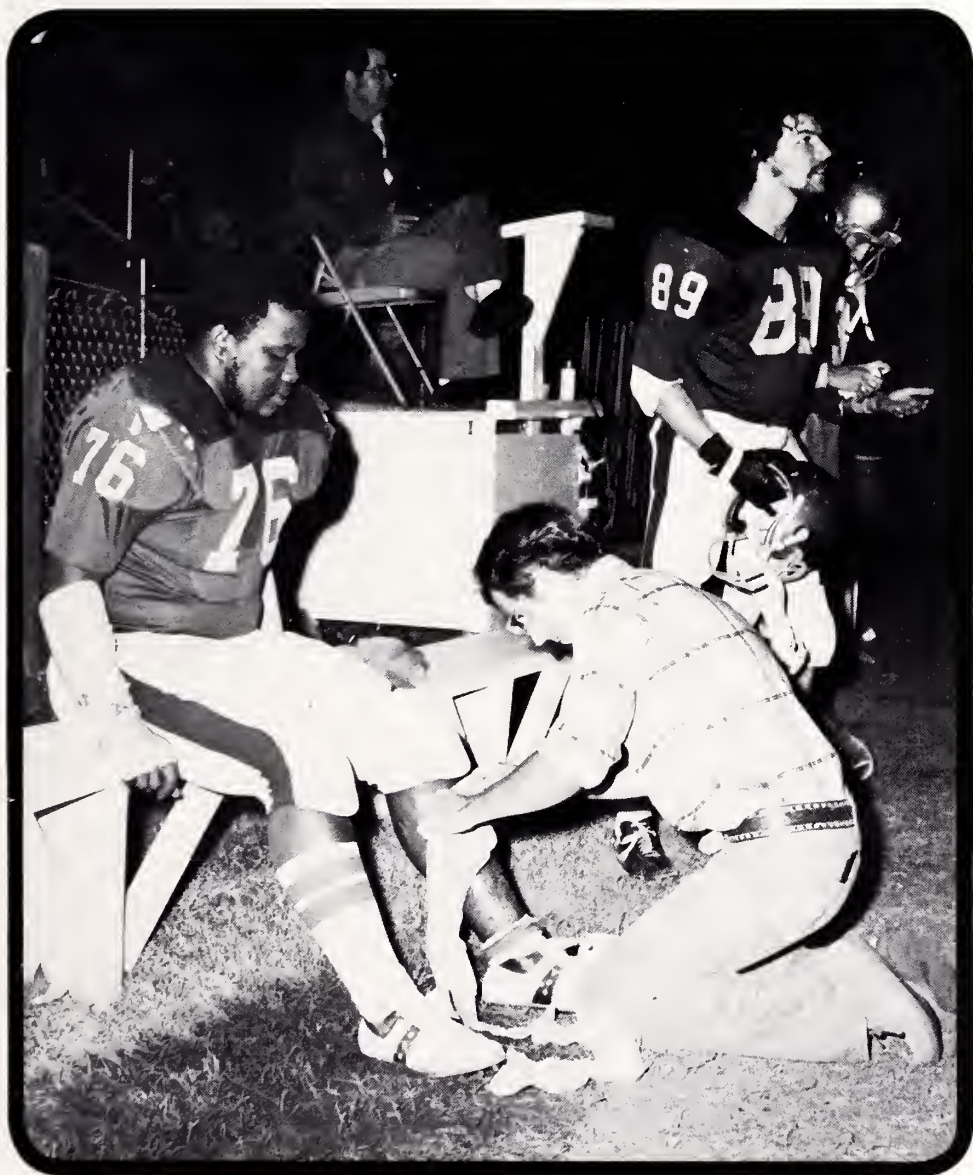

"We've got the momentum . . . let's keep it!"

— 1st Quarter . . . 8:15 left: Holt passes to Kent Davis for TD.

— 2nd Quarter . . . 9:53 left: Freshman Bobby Straughter sprints 65 yards into the end zone . . . ties score 14-14. 1:23 until the half: Holt passes 43 yards to Darnell Dobson for touchdown.

— 3rd Quarter: Billy Sisco runs 12 yards for a TD. Holt runs 25 yards for 5th Indian Touchdown.

*Final: IJC 32 — East Miss 21
Record: 2-0-0

Bomb Bobcats

"Well boys, this is gonna be a real rest."

— Jones County crushes the Indians by scoring five touchdowns in the first half . . . because of Indian offensive mistakes.

— The Bobcats' longest drive against IJC's "Murder's Row" defense was 35 yards.

*Final: Itawamba 14 — Jones 32

Record: 2-1-0

Trample Trojans

"All right, so we lost . . . it's time to bounce back."

— The first half: A defensive battle . . . IJC has bad field position . . . Holt does a good job punting.

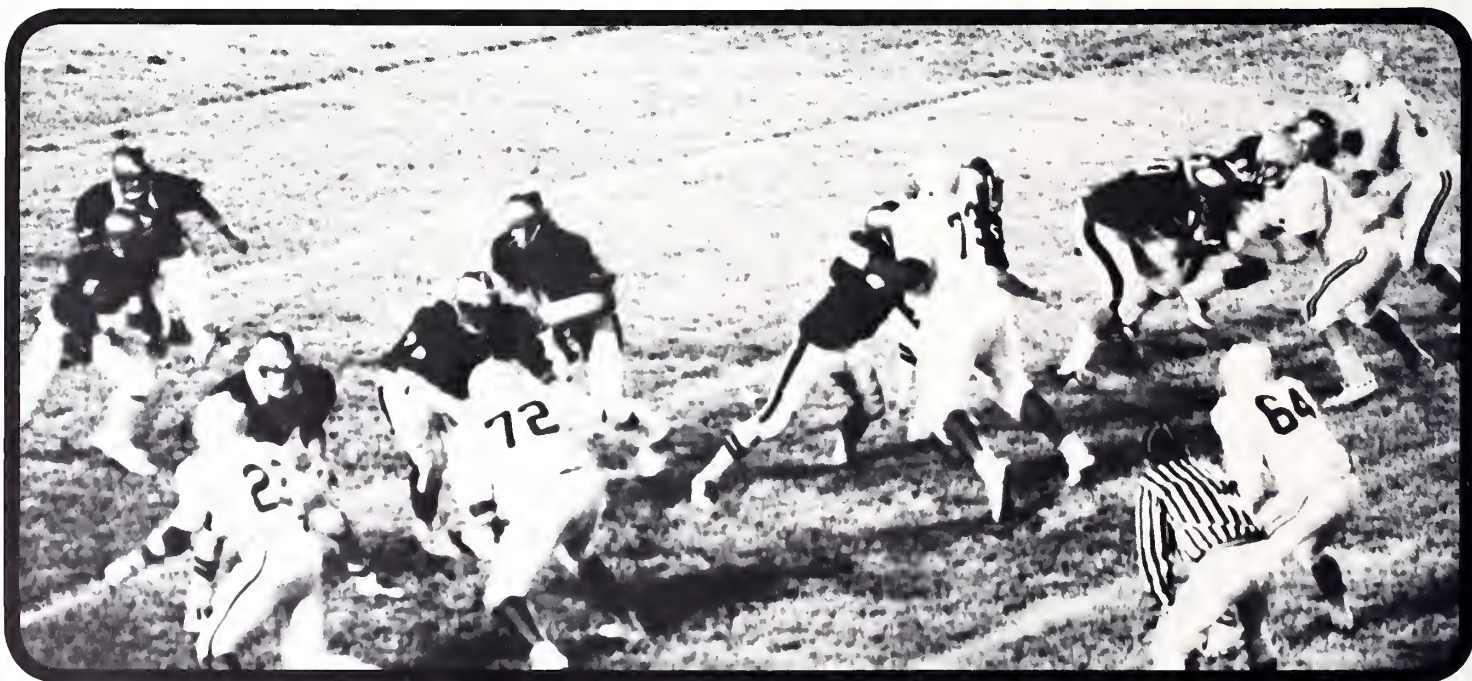

— Late in the 2nd Quarter: Glenn West makes a spectacular catch off a Chris Holt pass at the Delta 22 . . . the Indian offense stalls at the 12 . . . Mickey Hill kicks field goal.

— Second Half: Fumbles, Fumbles, Fumbles!

Lions score 21 points while the IJC defense gives up no 3rd or 4th down conversions.

*Final: IJC 3 — Miss Delta 21

Record: 2-2-0

Homecoming: Waste Wildcats

"Remember, we're gonna feel pretty miserable if we are 2-3-0 come Monday!"

— Can't blame the Indian offense entirely, this one was a "joint effort toward destruction."

— When Homecoming activities began at the half, Pearl River led 19-0.

— 2nd Half: Indian defense is tough again, will not allow another point against them.

— 3rd Quarter: Holt scrambles 42 yards to the Wildcat 14 . . . Tippy Armstrong scores from the 12.

*Final IJC 7 — Pearl River 19

Record: 2-3-0

Bash Bulldogs

"Okay, the pressure is off . . . let's play these for fun."

— "What a rain storm!"

— Randy Baxter starts as Quarterback for injured Chris Holt.

— 1st Quarter . . . 2:27 left: Hill kicks a 22-yard field goal.

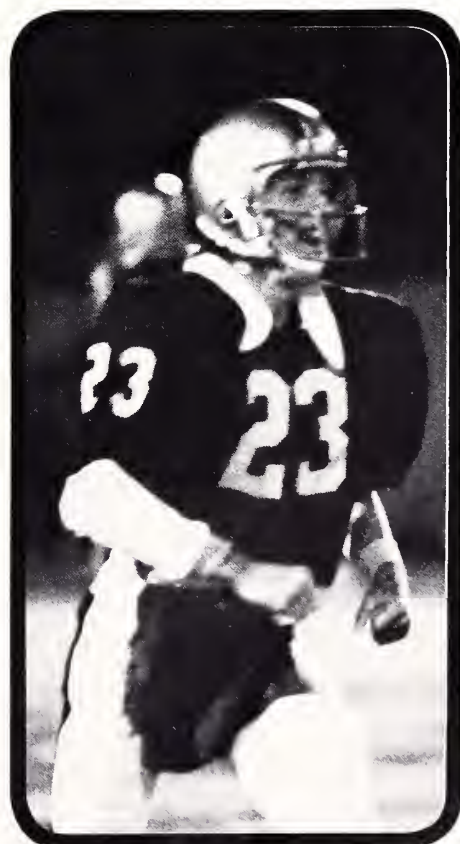

— Bulldogs score on a 68-yard pass play in the 3rd quarter.

— Itawambe defense stops the Bulldog QB for a safety . . . the score 7-5, Holmes' favor.

— With 3:19 left in the game, Hill kicks a 19-yard field goal . . . "Just call him 'Golden Toe!'"

*Final: IJC 8 — Holmes 7

Record: 3-3-0

Tear-Up Tigers

"This one is for bragging rights."

— Through the early going both offenses gave a lack-luster performance.

— 1st Q . . . 5:07 left: Danny Bell hits NEMJC QB and causes fumble . . . Alfonzo McMillian recovers the ball in the end zone for IJC's only TD.

— Northeast gets field goal before half.

— 4th Q: Linebacker Randy Schmidt blocks punt for a safety.

ACTIVITIES

Phi Theta Kappa sponsors speakers, entertainers

(left page, clockwise) South Central Bell sponsors telephone workshop for business education students.

Menagerie plays for Welcome Back to School dance.

Jack Crocker displays skill as comedian, poet and songwriter.

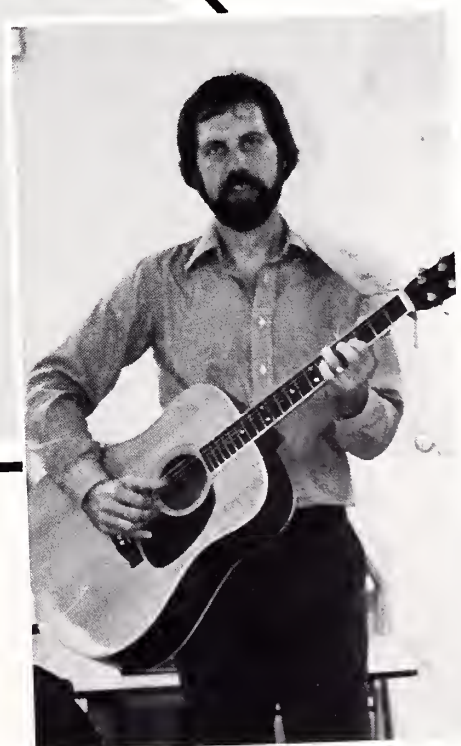

Billy Scheller takes students back in time with folk music.

Speaker's Forum New

The Speaker's Forum, sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa, was new this year. "Man Alive Can He Survive" was the theme of the forum, which included a ten-part series of films that dealt with where man came from and where he is going. Another forum presentation was a 45-minute slide and tape show entitled "God in Our Country."

ROTC Trains Leaders

Helicopter Maneuvers, Parachute Jumps Part Of Cadets' Training

Students at IJC who are members of the Army Reserve Officer's Training Corps (ROTC) — pronounced ROTT-CEE — learn leadership ability through classroom and field-trip activities.

ROTC students, under the leadership of Capt. Brian Ohlinger, participated in helicopter maneuvers, an equipment orientation at the National Guard Armory, a two-day artillery demonstration and parachute jump at Fort Benning, GA, and a formal military banquet at the University of Mississippi.

Kaleidoscope Reflects Shades of Colorful Songs

. . . shades of song and tunes in colorful harmony . . . bright horns and a dapper guitarist . . . skirts and ruffled shirts . . . managers and musicians in a Kaleidoscope of sound . . .

Instrumentalists are: Randy Baxter, Robert Brown, Jeff Butler, Tim Dunahoo, Rick Murrell, Delonah Rouse, David Switzer, and Jeff Tally.

Roadies are: Chris Holt, Jimmy Linderman, Donnis Martin, and Gene Rogers.

Prime Time Takes Place in Spectrum

. . . more denim and free wheeling guitarists . . . Prime Time coming on to make their place in the spectrum of IJC's music . . .
stripes and drums and freelance fun . . .

Prime Time members are: Cliff Adair, Ricky Booth, Sandy Dallas, Don Easter, Mary Estes, Nathan Goff, Gail Harris, Lee Hatcher, Steve Head, Susan McCarthy, Carlene Reed, Jeff Sewell, Kathy Slack, Greg Thomas, Mark Todd.

Chorus Blends Harmony

. . . the IJC Chorus blends harmony . . . girls, guys, players supreme, all songs bright, old and new alike . . .

. . . Drama Club . . . Miss Nicholson
. . . that's where it starts . . .

Members are: Tommy Morgan, Janet Pearson,
Jim Rish, Tammy Turner, Gregg Sappington, Kathy Slack.

Mimes Provide Silent Delight

. . . protégés in pantomime, they talk without sound . . . their faces and features speak with silent delight . . . their bodies, their hands transpose stories to pictures and give their acts life . . . with grace and smooth motion, and white-faced complexions they talk to our eyes, watchful and bright . . . Bridget Walton, Jennifer Wilson, Patricia Coker and Vickie Benson

THE Band Plays On

Everything about IJC is on the move and growing — the school's 86 member band, under the direction of Bryan Herring, is no exception.

Band members know that in music, practice makes perfect, or at least very, very good. The IJC Band did a lot of practicing this year. Through the long days of autumn they could be heard, working long hours in the deep green hollow that lies beyond the college. They marched on rainy October afternoons, and in humid August mornings; they played on strongly when the Indians were losing to Pearl River, and rang with victory in Jones County.

To the top right are the band's standouts. These musicians made the Mississippi Junior College All-State Band.

At the middle right is the Jazz Band.

CLOSING AND INDEX

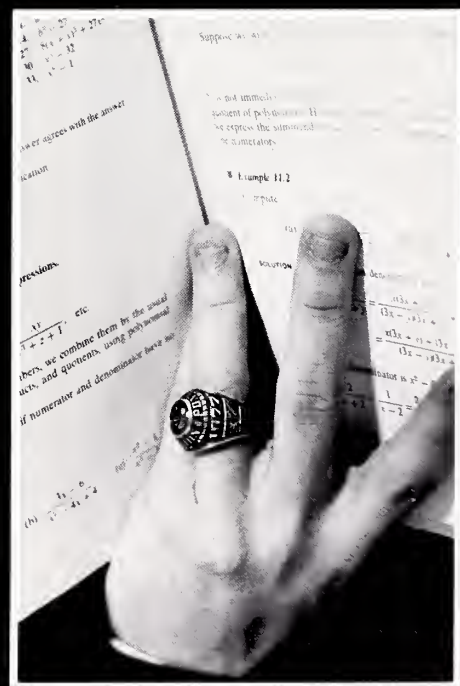

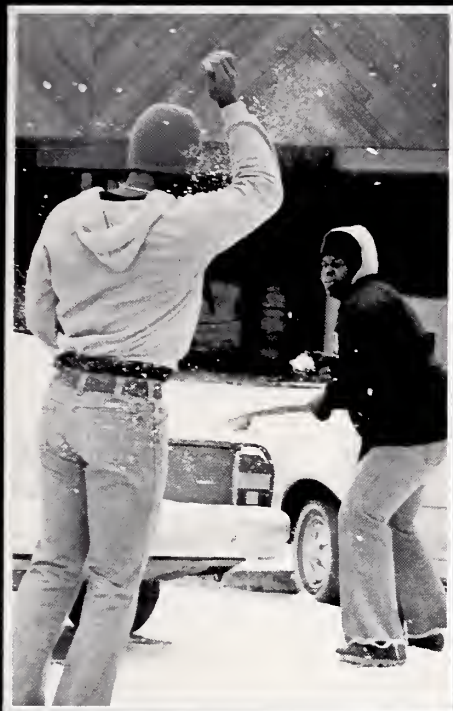

a season for everything

For everything God has granted a season and a time . . . there was the January time, when snowballs, and basketballs, and puffs of foggy breath were in the air . . . and hot meals sent you out into the day and nursed you back to warmth again that night . . .

. . . February's time broke, with longer, warmer days shining across still, leafless trees . . . with books and searching for more books . . . and reaching out for something . . . going toward something . . . graduation? . . . or the next weekend? . . . or the next date? . . . or just tomorrow? . . .

some things were unchanging

March and April's time was like a wedding of winter and spring . . . there was something old and something new. Some dorms were new to IJC's second semester . . . carpeted corridors and walls papered with posters . . . washing machine mismatches and snacks at midnight . . .

Then, some things were unchanging . . . bedroom bull sessions and brushes through beautiful hair . . . books for studying and trips home to beat boredom.

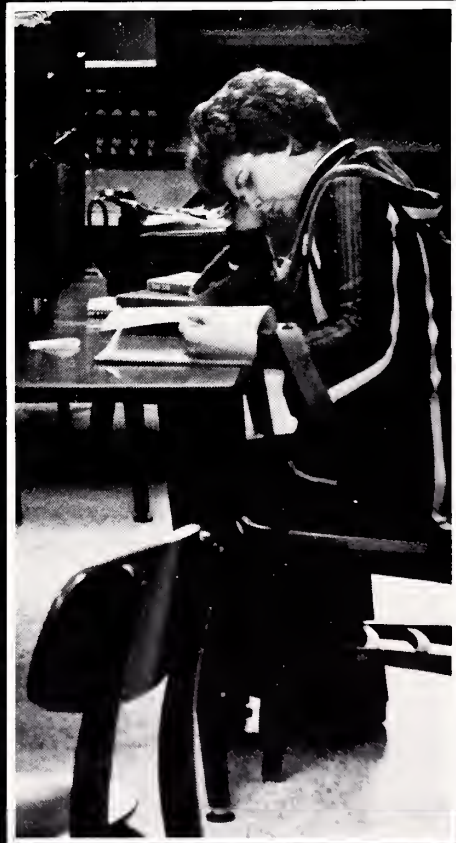

*smiles
guaranteed*

Quickly, the time of painted winter fields turned to bright spring pictures . . . graduation was just around the corner . . . and summer lay beyond.
With smiles guaranteed by the coming May we worked toward caps and gowns and robed walks down the aisle . . . mapping tomorrow today . . .

we'll remember yesterday

And when the time of May grew near, then past, moments that once were the present became only pictures on a yearbook page . . . they will fade and so will we, but not the memories of our shining youth . . .

. . . the days of long last looks for love letters and library books, have been completed at least for this, your fourth or first or second or third semester at IJC . . .

. . . we won't see that snowbound-basket-pulling-day in January again . . . or turn pages with the same friend . . .

Yet we'll remember yesterday and IJC in prose and pictures . . . fading football jerseys and features of a best friend's face . . . with tenderness, and tears . . . still building and lusting for tomorrow
. . . for June . . . for summer . . .
Oh! for endless summer . . .
